REPORT

Of Superintending School Committee.

There are in the town a little rising of five hundred children between the ages of four and sixteen, who have attended the schools the year past. Generally the schools have been successful and well sustained. All except one have had a Summer and a Winter term, and two have had a Fall term in addition. All have been under the instruction of females, except four in the Winter term. (See Schedule on a following page.)

District No. 1 (Plain) has been exceedingly well kept — the primary division by Mrs. Taylor and the second by Miss Pike, Miss Cutter, and Mr. Mendal E. Bridgman. Mrs. Taylor adapts herself remarkably to the instruction of young children, by her affable and persuasive manner, and gains not a little by her successful introduction of singing in general chorus. She is earnestly commended to the public as an instructor.

Too much praise cannot be given to Mr. Bridgman's Winter school. Its order and proficiency have exceeded former experience by much. He has successfully practised the best modes of College instruction in the use of the black-board in Arithmetic and Algebra, and in reviews and examinations by topics given out in Grammar, Geography, &c.— The County Commissioner expressed high approbation, saying without qualification, it was the best school he had seen in Grafton County.— Nothing unpropitious occurred in either department of this school during the year.

District No. 2 (North West) had a superior teacher in Miss Clark during the Summer. In the Winter, a young man without experience in teaching was employed, and left after two weeks in unpleasant circumstances. Miss Adeline Dewey succeeded him and gave general satisfaction; but the school evidently suffered in respect to order and industry by the failure of the first two weeks. The District would do well to employ the next Winter, a man of firmness and some age to reduce the school to better discipline. A new school house, to replace the present relict of a former age, would add much to the spirit and good will of the future pupils. Miss Dewey deserves much praise for her patient and persevering efforts and corresponding success in this school.

District No. 3 (Camp's) was taught in the Summer by Miss Martha A. Mead. She earnestly sought to awaken the interest of her pupils, and most of them made improvement; but we were sorry to notice, on the part of some, a dislike of study and a tendency to make play the chief business of school hours.

Mr. Flint taught the Winter school with ability, and improvement was manifest. But the whispering and moving about, observed, could not but operate to the injury of the school. The house is cold and uncomfortable, which accounts in part for the uneasiness.

District No. 4, (Town Farm,) taught by Miss L. C. Withington in Summer, and by Mr. Isaac Fellows, Jr. in the Winter, was marked by good order and success. The house is good and well furnished.

District No. 5 (Mill Village). The Summer school, under the instruction of Miss C. P. Fellows, exhibited a pleasing appearance in respect to order and interest. In the Winter, the school was divided—Miss Fellows in the higher and Miss Sarah Huntoon in the lower department. Both were well sustained on the whole. The Committee have some occasion to censure the older scholars in respect to deportment. The excellence of the instruction and the pleasantness of the school-room should have excited to more order and application. Still, there was much to commend. The teacher of the primary department, though without much experience, has been remarkably successful.—The improvement noticed was very decided.

District No. 6 (Pinneo's) has sustained its former character for quietness and industry. Miss Marinda Fellows in the Summer and Miss Caroline Brigham in the Winter, both evinced ability in teaching, and the pupils appeared to appreciate it and exert themselves to improve. The Committee have nothing but commendation to express. The school house is new, light, airy, neatly painted and well furnished with black-board and maps - the whole very attractive. The District wisely keep the old school-house adjacent standing, with windows and doors broken out - it is presumed for contrast, that the inhabitants of those districts who have old school-houses may see, at one impressive view, the difference. We hope their benevolent hint may be regarded.

District No. 7 (North). Miss H. F. Storrs, who taught the Summer school, deserves commendation for the skillful and satisfactory manner in which she conducted the school. Special attention was paid to the meaning of words. Miss L. P. Southard, in the Winter, gave faithful and accurate instruction, and there was proficiency in study. A little more attention to order would have rendered the school much better.

District No. 8. (Hatch's). Miss Ann E. Miller, who taught the Summer school, has superior qualifications. The school was quiet and orderly; but, for some reason, the pupils did not make so much progress in study as was expected. In the Winter, the instruction by Miss H. M. Ross, was thorough and the discipline efficient — the pupils improved rapidly. The school-house is new and good, and the situation very fine.

District No. 9. (Greensboro'). This school was well kept through both terms, 26 weeks in all, by Miss S. M. Ross. The District is spirited and enterprising in every thing except a school-house, which is perhaps the poorest of the poor. Encouragement, however, is given that a new one shall be built "at an early day," which should mean, the ensuing Summer.

District No. 10 (Fellows'). This District suffers from its small population — there having been but nine scholars in the Summer school, and seven in the Winter. The severe storms of the past Winter caused the school to be closed at the end of six weeks. Both the teachers, Miss Fellows and Miss Miller, were able, and instructed the few they had to good purpose. Would not this District do well to disband and incorporate with adjacent Districts — especially, if a Fall school were kept, as there might be, at Mill Village?

District No. 11 (South East). A Summer school of twelve weeks, with eleven scholars, and a Winter school of six weeks, with seven scholars, both by Miss M. J. Hoyt — neither visited nor reported.

District No. 12 (Tunis). A Summer school of 6 weeks with 13 scholars was kept by Miss Chesley — not visited; the Winter school of 10 weeks by Mr. A. W. Fellows. He having no experience in teaching, did not succeed in introducing much method in the arrangements of the school. The school demands the services of a thorough and experienced disciplinarian. Acting on the suggestions of a previous committee, we kept our eye on "one young lad," but soon discovered two more, farther advanced in the practice, if not in the theory of impudence, and were obliged to devote most of our time to them.

District No. 13 (Centre) has been fortunate in securing good teachers. Miss H. F. Bridgman in the summer, and Miss Mary Fellows in the fall and winter. The school house is new and excellent and its location very desirable. Nothing is wanting here to make the school all that could be desired, but a better spirit on the part of the pupils. We noticed a failure here, in respect to good deportment and application to the proper business of the school. It is understood there has been improvement in this respect, but there is room for more.

District No. 14 (Emerson hill), a well governed and profitable school taught by Miss Elizabeth Camp. The winter school was taught by Miss Lavina P. Turner, an efficient teacher who rendered the school both pleasant and profitable to her pupils.

District No. 15 (North East) had both a summer and a winter school, with an average of ten scholars — both kept by Miss Lydia A. C. Bean. The manner in which this school was conducted was highly creditable to the teacher, and gave entire satisfaction. The instruction imparted was of the most accurate kind. Marked attention was paid by the pupils during the recitations. Whispering was suppressed.

District No. 16 (Goss). The summer school was taught 12 weeks — 12 scholars — by Miss H. M. Ross, and the winter's, 9 weeks — 11 scholars — by Miss Martha A. Mead. These teachers gave general satisfaction.

District No. 17 (Clossen's). This school appeared well on the whole both summer and winter. Towards the close of the winter school, a difficulty arose from a requisition of the teacher upon the grammar class to write compositions. Some refused and left the school with the approbation of the parents. The committee would express the opinion that composition is a part of grammar and that the requisition was reasonable; and if there was a fault on the part of the teacher as to the mode, it is to be hoped those parents will not question the principle, so obvious, that the end of the study of grammar is to learn to write the English language with propriety.

District No. 18 (Walker's). This school was kept summer and winter, ten weeks each, by Miss E. M. W. Eastman, an energetic and excellent teacher, whose accurate instruction and complete order rapidly advanced her pupils.

By the subjoined schedule it will be seen that all the schools out of the villages are small, and, if the comparison be made with former reports, that they are diminishing. This results from the fact that the population of the town is diminishing — especially in the rural districts. It is worthy of consideration whether a consolidation of districts should not be attempted. The same money paid to half the number of teachers, each instructing twice the number of pupils, would probably double the effect by procuring better instruction and by imparting more spirit. The schedule shows only four male teachers. Some of the schools have suffered the past year for the want of more energy than can be expected in a female. The standard of education is also continually advancing, the age becoming more exacting, and though there is advance with us from year to year undoubtedly, it is worthy of consideration and forecast how we shall be able to keep up in the race.

In the building of new school houses the Committee suggest whether desks, to accommodate each one pupil, should not be substituted for the longer seats. The difference in the expense cannot be great, especially in a small school, and being easily removed, no more need remain in the school room at once than the circumstances require. Some advantage would be gained in respect to discipline, we think, by the change.

The Committee have occasion to complain again of the School Registers. In some the statements are not given with accuracy and fulness, others are not written in a legible hand, needing more powerful magnifiers than most have at command. To our fair teachers, who constitute the great majority, the Committee would commend two lines of Pope:

Why has not man a microscopic eye?

For this plain reason, man is not a fly.
